THE GIFT THAT KEEPS ON GIVIN'

Upcycling gives an existing promotional piece a second life by creating something unique, functional, and most importantly memorable! No idea how to sell / promote this concept? Follow along as we tell the holiday story of Jane Doe Promo.

Every year Jane Doe Promo provides the event swag and donor thank you gifts for the Nyathera Women's Center NYE Gala. This event is the talk of the town, and she is always pushing the creative agenda on how to outshine the year before.

With new sustainability initiatives gaining momentum, this year she presented the gala organizers the idea of Upcycling their own promotional materials into memorable gifts.

To kick off ticket sales, billboards and street signage go up all over town on November 1st. Tickets for this event sell out quickly, so the billboards and signage only stay up until December 1st.

When the billboards come down, they are shipped to the upcycling facility where they are cleaned, cut, and sewn into new pouches, totes, and accessories that set the stage for the silent auction at the event.

But, she didn't stop there. The upcycling continues even after the event is over. The event tablecloths are crafted into functional, everyday products, creating lasting memories. These pieces were used as donor, sponsor gifts, and volunteer thank you gifts.

Each item that was produced included a beautiful hangtag recapping the evening and telling the story of the new item as well as what it used to be.
